Introduction

I never really thought I'd be someone who was "into" crystals and chakras. I loved pretty gemstones, but I didn't even know what a chakra was for much of my life. I am a logical and analytical person and have always been proud of my deductive reasoning skills.

I didn't think the two went together, but something inside me always felt a knowing. Even though my parents weren't spiritual, I also always felt a connection to God and the divine. There was a part of me that felt like it was searching for something, but I spent a lot of time denying or squashing down these feelings because my logical side didn't always agree. I figured being an INFJ-T or saying I was an empath was as far as I'd go. Then I wouldn't be thought of as crazy by my church friends or feel like as some sort of weirdo.

I think God has an interesting way of getting your attention.

In 2009 I was diagnosed with Chronic Lyme Disease which is an illness that's often denied by the medical community. This means that there are differing opinions on how to treat it, plus everyone presents differently. There's no cure or standard protocol. Along the way, I was misdiagnosed with lupus, fibromyalgia, chronic fatigue, early onset perimenopause, early onset osteoarthritis, vertigo, sciatica, cognitive disorder and other things that I've since forgotten.

Eventually, my doctor told me to give up trying to get better. He said I needed to accept that this was my fate in life. I would spend the rest of my days just as I had been – 16 to 18 hours in bed, watching my kids grow up by the side of my bed, feeling like a loser mom and wife.

There were many, many days that I wanted to just end it all, but I also had so many desires and dreams that I wanted to see come true. I wanted to be able to play with my kids and my grandkids one day, but I didn't to do it laying on the couch. I didn't want to keep sitting on the sidelines of life. I felt like there was no hope and I didn't know how to make myself better. I was trying everything I could get my hands on and learn about (most things I didn't even tell my doctor I was trying). In the process, I became a Master Herbalist, a Reiki Master, Aromatherapist and Law of Attraction Practitioner.

I learned so much on this journey about alternative modalities like rife machines which send frequencies into your body to kill off organisms like Lyme. I found out the connection with the mind, body and spirit. I learned how my past traumas could impact my physical health. I learned about positivity and affirmations and how they affect water, which is about 60% of our bodies. And I found out that I could change my frequency, create more energy flow, and help my body heal (lower inflammation, improve detox, etc.) without having to pump myself full of pharma drugs.

It never truly was that I wanted to end my life – it was that feeling of desperation of just wanting the misery to end. I didn't want to keep crying on the bathroom floor in the moonlight so I didn't wake up my husband who was sleeping. I didn't want to keep telling my kids I couldn't go to their school parties and sporting events. I felt like I had so much more in store for my life. It was like I had been called to something.

As I tried more things, read more books, changed my self-talk, and incorporated all the things I was learning, low and behold, the good days started to outnumber the bad. I started to have strings of days, then weeks of feeling like a real person again. The light at the end of the tunnel was coming. That doctor couldn't predict my life. I didn't need to accept anything. I could take my future into my own hands.

Initially, I thought that I had gone through this journey because I was supposed to eradicate the world of chronic illness, but I was wrong. I've found out through the last five years that my mission was to educate people on creating a better mindset and show people the alternative modalities they could use to create happier, healthier lives.

That's why I wrote this book – for you, so that you could get the basics in a simple guide to learn more about chakras, crystals and zodiac because when you change your energy, you change your life!

WHAT ARE CHAKRAS?

Chakra mean "wheel" or "disk" and it refers to the specific points or energy centers in your body. Chakras have long been used as an ancient meditation and healing practice. They are believed to be responsible for keeping the balance in a person's spiritual, mental, physical, and emotional health. All your chakras need to be open or unblocked. This will help the energy inside your body flowing freely and working properly. But many times, due to the stresses of everyday life (inside and outside of the body), the Chakras can become blocked and the result manifests in physical, emotional or spiritual issues. This is why knowing how to naturally unblock your chakras is important.

How many chakras are there?

Some people say there are as many as 114 chakras, but there are seven main chakras most people know about and work with. These seven chakras are located from the base of your spine to the crown of your head. As we've already mentioned, when your chakras are blocked, you can experience the negative impact of energy not flowing freely in your body or mind. When you unblock all your chakras, your energy will move openly, and harmony will exist between your mind, physical and spiritual body.

Your seven chakras are:

- Root chakra
- Sacral Chakra
- Solar Plexus Chakra
- Heart Chakra
- Throat Chakra
- Third eye chakra
- Crown Chakra

Before we discuss each chakra, you may be wondering how to know which chakra is potentially blocked.

You can use these simple questions from EOC Institute as a quick test:

1st Chakra (Root) - Do you feel grounded? Are you physically healthy?

2nd Chakra (Sacral) - Do you have abundance in your life? Are you an emotionally balanced person? Are you comfortable expressing yourself sexually?

3rd Chakra (Solar Plexus) - Do you have a high degree of self esteem? Are you confident?

4th Chakra (Heart) - Do you have love in your life (friends, family, significant other)? Are you emotionally connected to others, and/or have a strong social network?

5th Chakra (Throat) - Do you communicate your thoughts to others well? Do people consider you articulate?

6th Chakra (Third Eye) - Do you intuitively just “know” certain things, without being taught beforehand? Are you wise? A deep thinker? Do you have a well developed “mind’s eye”?

7th Chakra (Crown) - Do you understand your spiritual connection to all that exists? Are you able to recognize your inner and outer beauty?

Did you answer “no” to many of the previous questions? Most people have at least a few blocked chakras because when one chakra is blocked the others try to compensate for the blockage. That’s why it’s important to know what each chakra controls.

Now let’s get into more detail on each chakra. Just so you’re aware, some people like refer to the seven chakras from root to crown and some people go from crown to root. It’s just preference.

ROOT CHAKRA

The root chakra or Muladhara is the first Chakra in our body and it is located around your tailbone, at the base of the spine. In your life journey, the root chakra is responsible for security and safety. The root chakra is symbolized by the color. It's also associated with the lotus with four petals.

The basic starting point of our development is the root chakra. One of the first tasks we have after birth is to determine whether we belong here or in this family system. The exploration of this answer is associated with the root chakra.

A balanced root chakra will help you to maintain stability in your life. The root chakra is concerned with your basic needs, including food, shelter, water, health, wealth, and emotional needs. It is responsible for feeling self-grounded and the feeling or action of self-preservation.

This chakra is especially important because you create a solid foundation to open all the chakras by balancing the root chakra. You can have a healthy open chakra system if your root chakra is balanced. Some people say the root chakra provides energy to the other chakras, so it is important for you to balance the root chakra first to get a flowing, peaceful, balanced life too.

The Root Chakra Regulates:

- Lower Back/Coccyx
- Adrenal Glands
- Blood
- Skeleton
- Feet
- Knees
- Hips
- Teeth
- Nails
- Rectum
- Spine

An Unbalanced Root Chakra:

If root chakra is unbalanced or blocked, you may have anxiety, fear, nightmares, feel powerless or lost. You may also become stuck in a situation and you think you will not get out of it. You can feel weak, tired, unmotivated, depressed, and frustrated. Some people can also experience pain in the lower back or leg.

How to Balance the Root Chakra:

- Nourish Yourself
- See Red
- Rise with the sun
- Freestyle Dance
- Go on a walk
- Affirmation
- Yoga
- Breathing Exercise
- Gemstone
- Essential Oils

Nourish Yourself:

Eat healthy or fresh to balance your root chakra. Lower or cut your carbs and protein and eat food that can be digested easily, just like fruits and vegetables. Take small portions of food at least five times a day. Give yourself some time to relax. Go to some spa to get a manicure and pedicure. If you pamper yourself, you will feel balanced in your root chakra.

See Red:

The color red will help you to balance your root chakra. Just create a vision (and hold it for a while) that the bright color red is glowing at the base of your spine or tailbone. Seeing red can boost your energy and make you feel energetic. Even wearing red can help you ground your root chakra.

Rise with the Sun:

Getting up early and sleeping early will help tremendously if you are trying to activate your root chakra. The best way is to get up with the sun, as the light is coming over the horizon. This can also help you to balance your vitamin D which is helpful for a strong skeleton. So just by waking up early, you can get more vitamin D and help balance your root chakra.

Freestyle Dance:

Dancing can be extremely beneficial for the root chakra since it keeps your lower body flexible and moving. This is how it can open up your root chakra. Close your room, play your favorite track and move your body. You will feel much lighter and relax after it.

Go on a Walk:

A long walk, even at night, can be very peaceful for your mind and body. Take a long walk where you can spend some quality time with yourself. Remind yourself that you don't have to be depend on anyone for your happiness and that you are enough for yourself. Don't let your happiness depend on some person or thing. If you concentrate on the movement of your foot while doing a walk, you will be attached to the earth, and as a result, you will cleanse your root chakra.

Affirmations:

Using affirmations is one of the easiest ways to balance your root chakra. Just repeat them to get your root chakra aligned. Some great affirmations for the root chakras are:

- I am safe.
- I am blessed.
- I am beautiful.
- I can achieve whatever I want.
- I am releasing all the negativity with every breathe .
- I have everything which I desire.
- In my world, all is well.
- The universe is with me.

- I am releasing all my fear.
- I am feeling nurtured.

Yoga:

Yoga is another way to balance your root chakra. Recommended yoga poses for the unblocking the root chakra are: tree pose, lotus pose, head to forwarding knee bend, and Garland pose.

Gemstones:

You can get help from gemstones or crystals to balance your root chakra. Many gemstones are available, but the most popular gemstones to balance your root chakra are:

- Garnet
- Goldstone
- Red Jasper
- Smoky Quartz
- Black Tourmaline
- Rhodonite
- Bloodstone
- Hematite
- Obsidian
- Onyx
- Fire Agate

- Lodestone
- Ruby

Essential Oils:

- Myrrh
- Vetiver
- Sandalwood
- Patchouli
- Spikenard

A Balanced Root Chakra:

With a balanced root chakra, you can more easily manifest prosperity, good health, wealth, abundance, peaceful relationships, and peace.

You will be more focused, give full attention to your work, and always live in a present situation rather than worrying about the past or future.

You will not be distracted by other negative feelings or vibes if your root chakra is strong.

You will be able to manifest stability in your life and you will feel blessed with a strong trust in God/Spirit/Divine.

SACRAL CHAKRA

The sacral chakra or svadhishthana is the second chakra and it is located two inches below the the navel. The sacral chakra is known as the social chakra, creation chakra, and sex chakra. This chakra is responsible sensually and creatively and acts as a center of passion and pleasure. It is represented by the color orange or by a lotus of six petals.

Overall enjoyment of life is dependent on this chakra. Sacral Chakra plays an active role in sexuality and helps you to express your needs and desires in your sexual life. The element of the sacral chakra is water which shows flexibility, freedom of impression and flow. The sacral chakra is all about fantasies, intimacy, healthy relationship, pleasure, emotions, and feeling.

The Sacral Chakra Regulates:

- Ovaries/Testes
- Kidneys
- Bladder
- Prostate
- Pelvis
- Body Fluids
- Adrenal Glands
- Large Intestines
- Lower Back/Sacrum

An Unbalanced Sacral Chakra:

Issues with the reproductive system can be seen when your sacral chakra is unbalanced. You may also experience urinary tract infection, pain during intercourse and chronic lower back pain. You could also feel detached from yourself as a person, have lower interest in sexual activities, be over-sensitive. It could also be difficult for you to express your creativity, needs, and sexual desire. You will be physically and emotionally weak if your sacral chakra is imbalanced. You may worry about or have a fear of losing a relationship or losing control in the relationship

Balance the Sacral Chakra:

If you're feeling emotionally unstable, fearful of change, or blocked in your creative processes, your sacral chakra could be out of alignment. Your Sacral Chakra is also a direct link to your inner child.

Some tips for an unbalanced sacral chakra are discussed below.

- Eat Orange food or use the color orange
- Spend some time in nature
- Meditation
- Write your problems on paper
- Affirmations
- Gemstones
- Essential Oils

Eat Orange Food or Use the Color Orange:

Eating orange foods might help you to balance your sacral chakras. These foods includes carrots, pumpkin, oranges, sweet potatoes, melons, mangoes, and nuts. You can also wear an orange colored shirt or dress to attract and fill your sacral with the orange light.

Spend Some Time in Nature:

The sacral chakra is connected with water, so you can go to places like the beach or a water-loving resort. It will help you to recover and will nourish your body and your chakra. If you can't get to the outdoors, try a soak in the tub, jacuzzi or hot tub. If you can, add orange colored light to your water.

Meditation:

If you want to heal your sacral chakra, then meditation is helpful. Meditation activates energies which are necessary for the sacral chakra. Stay with this energy of love. Now begin to visualize that with each breath of oxygen. You are breathing in a positive, energetic light of love. This light is glowing orange. By following This visualization, you will feel calm and relaxed.

Write Your Problems on Paper:

Just grab a pen and paper and write your thoughts on paper. Anything that creates conflict between your mind and your body should be written down. Write an answer to some questions like, are you happy with your sex life? Are you doing something creative? Are you fuelling your creative passion? Writing these answers will help you to heal and open your sacral chakra.

Affirmation:

You can repeat the following affirmations daily to balance your sacral chakra.

- I am living a very joyful life.
- I celebrate my sexuality and embrace it.
- My creativity is flowing through my body freely and I am happy with it.
- I attract the people who love me and accept me as the way I am.
- I happily accept sensuality in my life.
- I am loveable and I born to be loved.
- I received abundance with every single breath.
- I am enjoying my sex life.

Gemstones:

You may feel shy or uncomfortable and unemotional if your sacral chakra is not balanced. The daily challenges of life may be difficult for you or you can also experience a lack of confidence or sadness throughout the day. If you are feeling this way, you can wear gemstones which balance your sacral chakra.

The recommended gemstone to balance your sacral chakra are:

- Tiger Eye
- Orange Tourmaline
- Moonstone
- Amber
- Carnelian
- Goldstone
- Tangerine Quartz
- Sunstone
- Coral

Essential Oils:

Taking a bath with essential oils is especially wonderful for your sacral chakra.

- Lavender
- Sweet Orange
- Rose
- Helichrysum
- Patchouli
- Ylang Ylang
- Lemon
- Rosewood
- Sandalwood

A Balanced Sacral Chakra

If your sacral chakra is balanced, you will feel confident and will blossom as a person.

Balancing this chakra will create creativity, pleasure, abundance, wellness, and sensitivity.

You will be able to accept challenges and believe in, "Go with the flow." You won't feel regret or depression when your sacral chakra is open. You will see a big dream and be able to fulfill your greatest desires.

SOLAR PLEXUS CHAKRA

The third chakra in the human body is the solar plexus chakra or manipura and it is located two inches above your belly. The key element of solar chakra is fire and it is denoted by a bright yellow color, just like the sun.

Your solar plexus chakra controls your metabolism and digestive system and is responsible for your personality, personal choice, freedom, self-esteem, and power of transformation.

Balancing the solar plexus chakra will help you to get control of your life. This chakra is represented by a lotus of 10 petals. You can attract the power to change, destroy or save the earth by doing meditations for the solar plexus chakra.

Solar Plexus Regulates:

- Pancreas
- Stomach
- Liver
- Spleen
- Gallbladder
- Small Intestines
- Abdomen
- Sternum
- Back

An Unbalanced Solar Plexus Chakra :

If your solar plexus chakra is unbalanced, it can create digestion issues or gastric problems, heartburn, nausea, loss of appetite, and stomach problems. In terms of emotional problems, an unbalanced solar plexus can make you feel insecure, have a lack of confidence, give problems with low self-esteem, or manifest as anger issues. You could also face difficulties in making decisions or you may feel unbalanced in your life. In simple words, you may not be satisfied with your life or lifestyle.

Balance the Solar Plexus Chakra:

If you feel any symptoms like stress, lack of confidence and self-esteem, and not enough willpower, it might mean your solar plexus chakra is imbalanced or blocked. You can unblock your solar plexus chakra by following the tips:

- Try out things which make you excited
- Yoga
- Meditation
- Eat yellow food
- Affirmation
- Recover from your past
- Gemstones
- Essential Oils

Try Out Things That Make You Excited:

Your solar plexus chakra helps you find or determine your life's purpose, so get out of bed and go outside to explore the world. Do some amazing things or new hobbies that make you excited: painting, dancing, hiking, cooking, baking or singing. Try new ideas or things that relax your mind and you will start to feel better.

Yoga:

We all know yoga is great for many issues. If you feel tired, depressed, or lacking energy and want to manage your stress, it will help alleviate those issues. Yoga also helps with back pain, joint pain, headaches, and many other issues. Yoga postures that focus more on core strength are best to balance your solar plexus chakra. Recommended yoga poses that will help you connect with the balanced energy of solar plexus chakra are firefly pose, bow pose, sun salutation, Bharadwaj's twist, and full boat pose.

Meditation:

If you want to restore the balance in your chakras, then meditation is always helpful. Chakra meditation is quite similar to traditional meditation. You just keep your focus on a specific area that is connected with that chakra and visualize yellow light filling your solar plexus chakra and your whole body.

Eat More Yellow Food:

The solar plexus chakra is represented by the color yellow so eating yellow food will help you balance it. Try to add mango, sunflower seed, banana, and marigold tea to unblock your solar plexus chakra.

Affirmations:

You can make a morning ritual of repeating positive affirmations. You can speak it aloud or write them in your notepad. The following are affirmations that will help you balance your solar plexus chakra:

- I am ambitious.
- I feel calm and confident.
- I am capable.
- I will complete the new challenges easily.
- I am ready to make positive changes.
- I honor myself.
- I am manifesting positive outcomes in my life.

Recover your past :

Your past traumas or situations can affect your daily life. You may feel worried or depressed thinking about things that have happened. If you have faced bullying, a strict family environment, or educational pressures in your past, it could affect your mind and body and many suffer when they think about the mental or physical abuse they've endured.

Try not to be led by the past, to let go of those memories because it was your past, not your present. Instead, focus on enjoying living in the moment. This practice will make you a happier person and you will be able to face new challenges to make a better future for yourself.

Gemstones:

Many gemstones and crystals make wonderful changes in your life and help you to heal and balanced your sacral chakra. Some recommended solar plexus chakra gemstones are:

- Citrine
- Tigers Eye
- Golden Quartz
- Yellow Calcite
- Golden Mookaite
- Yellow Agate
- Amber
- Yellow Topaz
- Rutilated Quartz

Essential Oils:

- Lemon
- Lavender

- Rosewood
- Roman Chamomile
- Rosemary
- Sandalwood
- Myrrh
- Atlas Cedarwood
- Ylang ylang
- Lemongrass
- Helichrysum

A Balanced Solar Plexus Chakra:

You will feel confident and self-motivated if your solar plexus chakras is balanced. You will be grounded with positive energy and will be able to make decisions for your life by yourself. You will also be satisfied with your life and come to know the purpose of your life.

HEART CHAKRA

The heart chakra or anahata is located at the heart level at the center of the spine and is the center of the seven basic chakras, dividing the physical chakras (lower three) with the spiritual chakras (the upper three). The lotus flower represents a heart chakra with twelve petals and the color green. This chakra is responsible for our compassion, joy, love for ourselves and others, empathy, forgiveness, peace, generosity, gratitude, and ability to trust in others.

If you want to experience unconditional love, healthy boundaries, happiness and depth in a relationship, and joyful life, you need to work on your heart chakra. By balancing your heart chakra, you will feel an amazing flow in your love life because this chakra is connected with the heart. If your heart chakra is in alignment, you will accept challenges and achieve victory.

Heart Charka Regulates:

- Thymus
- Heart
- Lungs
- Circulatoin
- Hands
- Shoulders
- Breasts
- Upper Back

An Unbalanced Heart Chakra:

If your heart chakras are blocked or unbalanced, you will feel scared, fearful, unsatisfied, panicked, hateful, or you may feel the fear of something. An unbalanced heart chakra will turn your love into hatred.

Physical symptoms include lung and heart issues, low immune system, high or low blood pressure, and you may also find difficulty in breathing or problems in your respiratory system. The heart chakra can be blocked due to multiple reasons, but one of the most common reasons is that if a person has negativity or hatred in their life so do your best to avoid negative energy and negative people to keep your heart chakra balanced.

When your heart chakra is out of alignment, you will feel upper back, asthma, shoulder pain, bitterness, jealousy, or fear of losing someone.

Balance Your Heart Chakra:

If you are not satisfied with your love life or relationships, if you have a fear of losing, have constant pressure or negative feelings, your heart chakra might be imbalanced. You can balance it by following some tips, which are discussed below.

- Yoga
- Green food
- Affirmations
- Meditation
- Green color
- Gemstones
- Essential oil

Yoga:

You can practice yoga to keep your heart chakra balanced. Some specific yoga poses will help you to unblock your heart chakra such as the wheel pose, half camel pose, upward facing dog pose, bridge pose, bow pose, and reverse plank pose.

Green food:

You can add green food like fresh leafy green vegetables or cucumber. Broccoli, zucchini, kale, cauliflower, avocado, green apple, lime, cabbage, and spinach are great heart chakra foods. You can also make a mint margarita to add a twist. A spinach smoothie is also a good option.

Affirmations:

By making a habit of repeating positive affirmations, you can balance your heart chakra. Some recommended affirmations for heart chakras are as follows:

- I love myself.
- I love all the people around me.
- I forgive others, and I forgive myself too.
- I am proud of who I am.
- I feel so peaceful.
- Everything is perfect around me.
- My all relationship is trustworthy.
- I love my family and friends.
- I get positive motivation from my partner.

Meditation:

You can also practice meditation to balance your heart chakra. Sit up in a comfortable position, relax your body and close your eyes. Now suppose you are out of this world and avoid all the thoughts causing trouble in your mind. Now make your palm warm by rubbing them together. Then put one hand on your belly and another one on your heart. Feel the warmth and energy in the center of your heart and imagine a green light. With your every breath, allow the green light to get brighter. Now repeat some positive affirmations and open your heart to receive all the positive energy. Do this process until you feel calm and relaxed. Open your eyes when you are ready.

Green Color:

The green color is a sign of safety and also promotes self-love. When our heart chakra is balanced, we don't feel love for ourselves or others and always feel stressed or under pressure, so by using the green color in what you wear, look at, visualize, etc., you can unblock your heart chakra.

Gemstones:

There are specific gemstones for all seven chakras. If you are looking for a gemstone that can make your love life more exciting and energetic and feel romantic or loveable all the time, then rose quartz is best for you.

Recommended heart chakra gemstones are:

- Rhodochrosite
- Emerald
- Rhodonite
- Amazonite
- Malachite
- Green Tourmaline
- Jade
- Green Calcite
- Green Kyanite
- Peridot
- Rose Quartz

Essential Oils:

A soothing warm bath with essential oil can activate your mood within seconds, and it is also helpful to balance your heart chakra. If you have a symptom of an unbalanced or blocked heart chakra, you can try the essential oil to get it back on track.

- Rose
- Cypress
- Clary Sage
- Jasmine
- Geranium
- Neroli
- Palmarosa
- Bergamot
- Lavender
- Melissa/Lemon Balm
- Ylang Ylang

A Balanced Heart Chakra:

When your heart chakra is balanced, you will be full of love and compassion. You will feel harmony and intimacy with your partner. You will be able to live with yourself and others as well. You will enjoy your life to the fullest and you will be satisfied with yourself and others.

THROAT CHAKRA

The fifth chakra is the throat chakra or vishuddha. The lotus represents this chakra with sixteen petals and blue color. The throat chakra in your body is located at the base of your throat and the center of the larynx. This chakra plays an essential role in your communication, healthy internal dialogue, boundaries, willpower, emotions, thoughts, feeling, and expressing your decision to others.

Your throat chakra can have a masculine feeling. You can explain your ideas, views, or opinions with others clearly and without the fear if your throat chakra is balanced. The sacral chakra works closely with the throat chakra because the sacral chakra is responsible for creativity and the throat chakra helps express those creative ideas to others.

The Throat Chakra Regulates:

- Thyroid
- Throat
- Mouth
- Teeth
- Jaw
- Neck
- Ears
- Arms
- Bronchial tubes/Upper Lungs
- Shoulders
- Tongue

An Unbalanced Throat Chakra:

You will face various issues if your throat chakra is unbalanced, like pain in the neck, shoulder, jaw, sore throats, thyroid problems, or you may have problem with your gums, ears, upper respiratory system, and nose. You may feel shy, socially anxious, insecure, and will not speak the truth or express your personal view because you are fearful about others' opinion of you. People with unbalanced throat chakras are very critical about themselves and others too.

Balance Your Throat Chakra:

If you face difficulties interacting with others or do not speak up about your opinions or views because of the fear of others, then your throat chakra may be unbalanced. You can balance your throat chakra by following the below mentioned technique.

- Use the color blue
- Reiki
- Do neck stretches
- Affirmations
- Yoga and meditation
- Gemstones
- Essential Oils

Use the Color Blue:

Throat chakra has a lovely connection with the color blue, so you can use blue to balance it. You can wear a necklace of blue gemstones like lapis lazuli, aquamarine, and turquoise, or you can also sit under a blue light, which can relieve your stress and make you feel relaxed.

Reiki:

To balance your throat chakra, reiki healing is another powerful option. When you participate in reiki sessions, ask your Reiki practitioner to concentrate more on your throat chakra.

Some Reiki Masters recommend the following steps:

1. Relax comfortably in order to enable the flow of Reiki
2. Place your hands on your collarbone and throat.
3. For males, the energy is cleared by rotating left and for the females, rotating right. Always use your intuition to guide you.
4. Visualize the color blue like in the blue sky or blue water.
5. Chant the mantra “ham.” The vibration of this mantra alters the energy flow in your communication center.

Do Neck Stretches:

We often hold our stress in our shoulders and neck. Stretching your neck will help to open up your throat chakra.

1. Take your chin down toward your chest and relax your shoulders.
2. Now tilt your head and neck to the left.

3. While doing this, make sure you are feeling a stretch in your right ear.
4. Hold it for 10 to 30 seconds.
5. Repeat the same process on the other side.

Affirmations:

CROWN CHAKRA

The crown chakra or sahasrara is the last of the basic seven chakras in the human body. It is represented by a lotus of 1,000 petals and the color violet.

This chakra is the most spiritual in nature of all the seven chakras. The location of this chakra is at the top of the head. It shows and acts as your center of spirit, enlightenment, wisdom, universal consciousness, and connection to higher guidance. We also consider it as the highest potential chakra. It helps in communicating with The Universe. It provides and governs direction. This allows you to live a spiritually healthy life. The crown chakra helps you with inspiration, devotions, union with the higher self and the divine. It helps you have a deeper understanding.

Through this chakra, people are connected to the oneness of everything. This chakra allows us to experience unity and universal connectedness. This chakra is associated with thought and silence.

The Crown Chakra Regulates:

- Pineal Gland
- Skull
- Brain

An Unbalanced Crown Chakra:

A person with blocked crown chakra may feel the unwillingness to be open to other ideas, thoughts, or knowledge. With an unbalanced crown chakra, signs like psychosis, dissociation from the body, being disconnected and undergrounded appear.

Symptoms that arise when this chakra is out of balance are:

1. Rigid thoughts
2. Analysis paralysis
3. Constant fear of alienation

When the crown chakra is out of balance, many times, it can be from a lack of guidance and communication. If you do not have a good and healthy spiritual life, you may end up with a blockage of the crown chakra. When the chakra is unbalanced, you don't trust in your inner guidance. Symptoms of an unbalanced crown chakra include asthma, upper back, shoulder problems, arm, wrist pain, over loving to the point of suffocation, jealousy, and bitterness. You may also have fears or feelings of being alone all the time.

Balance Your Crown Chakra:

The following ways describe how to balance your crown chakra:

- Meditation
- Stop thinking thoughts
- Energy work
- Educate yourself
- Affirmation
- Cleanliness
- Gemstone
- Essential oils

Meditation:

Mediation as a spiritual tool is old but effective. The balancing of the crown chakra can also be achieved through breathing techniques, mantras and colorful visualizations. These are great techniques to bring balance to this sacred energy center. Meditation works so well for this chakra because meditation is the process of witnessing your thoughts.

Stop Thinking Thoughts:

To stop thinking your thoughts mean to sit at the corner silently and turn your attention inwards. Start recalling all those thoughts that are blasting through your brain. While observing, you recognize that you haven't created your thoughts. They arise spontaneously from the vast abyss of your mind. For creating peace inside of your thoughts, you should stop believing the thoughts that do not serve you.

Energy Work:

Any energy that heals your wounds or helps you in the healing process is one of the best ways to improve the health of your crown chakra. The following exercises can help with this: qigong, Falun gong, reiki, yoga, acupuncture, acupressure, massage, and EFT.

Educate yourself:

Open your crown chakra by stepping out of dead and limited perspectives. For self-growth, read books, watch videos, and listen to podcasts on a range of topics. A wise philosopher said, “The more I learn, the less I realize, I know.” The more you educate yourself, the more humility you develop about life and you create more open-mindedness towards people and yourself.

Affirmation:

You can balance your crown chakra by repeating the following affirmations.

- I am receiving the new ideas.
- I will live in a present moment.
- I am connected to my inner wisdom.
- I am connected to all.
- I am receiving the light to do positive things.
- I am opening myself to receive spiritual guidance.

Cleanliness:

Simplify your surroundings. You don't need to turn into a minimalist but always try to aim to reduce clutter from your life. An excess of anything can cause harm and the excess of belongings and mess can cause emotional and mental distress. Make three piles of your belongings that you want to keep, you want to donate, and that you want to throw away.

Gemstones:

Crown chakra stones and crystals are some of the most potent and popular stones. These gemstones can be used during meditation to open your mind, body, and soul to the higher realms. You can use them to stimulate your crown chakra as you sleep as well as inducing astral traveling. CONCLUSION

Chakras, crystals, gemstones, and the zodiac can have a significant and positive impact on your life. Blocked chakras can create issues not just physically but mentally as well, so balancing them on a daily basis is important. Keeping your chakras open will keep the energy flowing in your body so that it can function at optimum.

Supplementing with crystals will help to eliminate negativity in your surroundings and also create more positive energy. Wearing a gemstone can help you create the changes you want in your life. For example, if you're feeling anxious, you can wear amethyst or agate. If you want to control your emotions, use rose quartz. It will also help you fight stressful situations. There are many gemstones which you can wear for different reasons but make sure you know what crystal will help your situation.

Zodiac signs connect to your personality. No matter what you need help with, refer to your zodiac sign so that you know how to respond. For example, if you are looking for a business partner or life partner, it's important to match with their zodiac. If their sign is compatible with you, then your relations will be easier and can give you much success.
