Dedication

This is dedicated to my husband who I've seen manifest so many wonderful things in our life. I attracted him into my life before I ever knew about the Law of Attraction.

Introduction

We are all creators of the world we live in. What we are experiencing internally reflects into our outer world. Along with The Universe and God, we co-create everything that happens in our lives. We are in control, and our thoughts and feeling create what we attract.

The reason I titled this book “Standing in The Gap” is because we are always in the gap. It’s the in-between part of where we are now and where we’d like to be.

When we attract our desire, we have the next desire that we go after. When we attract that, we have another. We are constantly in that gap of getting there. We are always creating a new gap (the next gap) because we are designed this way to strive for more, want to be better or achieve something else. This is the gap we stand in every day.

Journaling is one of the best ways to get clear about everything and anything and that’s why this book is created as a journal exercise. Writing things out by hand does so much to connect you to your true feelings and thoughts. Things will come up if you allow yourself to free flow and be uncensored. When you journal and just allow things to come, you’ll find blocks that you didn’t even know existed.

The purpose of this book is to use these 40 days of journaling as a tool to create and attract what you want in your life. You will declare one thing that you desire to abundantly attract as your creation. Inevitably what will happen, if you stick to this daily, is that you will start to attract great things in other areas of your life as well. That’s just what happens when you’re at a high vibration.

Special instructions: In order for this 40 days of deliberate creation to work, if you miss a day, you MUST START OVER at day 1. Don’t beat yourself up if this happens, just begin again.

Think of this as a manifestation journal. Write in present tense. We attract things that are at our same vibrational frequency, so all we need to do is get on that frequency. It takes practice though and that’s why this is a 40 day deliberate creation journey. Studies have shown that it takes 40 days to create a habit that sticks or change a belief. This is what we are going to do here together.

Frequently, the reason we have a hard time attracting what we desire is that we’re sending out mixed or confused signals to The Universe. Then we get gobbledygook back. Our focus gets sidetracked, we get distracted ... these things block our ability to abundantly attract the right things into our lives.

Feeling is also a key thing to magnetic attraction. Writing can help you to hone in on those true feelings and get out the junk you don’t want so that you can take in more of what you do want – the feelings of happiness, elation, success, achievement, etc. We want to repeat those feelings so it's important that we first know what they feel like.

As you journal, you'll start to figure out ways to turn around your negative beliefs, your old stories and mindset, and change them so that you can be the true you that you desire to be. It's in this process of learning to reframe our thoughts that we get to that higher vibrational level.

It's only when you step into the truth of who you are and what you desire that you can attract the life you were meant to live and the abundance that goes with it.

This book is broken up into a prep and 4 lessons every 10 days. You can read all the lessons at once if you wish or do them as each 10 days comes.

Daily Journal and exercises include:

Mediation for 15 minutes and meditation music – you can find many on YouTube and some that are for over 3 hours. Put that on in the background. Studies have shown that when you have instrumental music (classical music as well) playing, your brain can do more per day without getting tired.

Visualize- when you can imagine what's already coming to you it becomes your reality. Your subconscious doesn't understand fact from fiction, so feed it great images of your exciting, abundant future and visualize it as if it's happening now. Then take it further and "expand your container" by thinking about how you can make what you desire even bigger and better.

Note: doing your visualizations before you sleep and right when you wake up helps to anchor it in.

Self-Care – treat yourself like the Queen (or King) that you are. Be kind. Do something nice for yourself each day, even if it's something small. Acknowledge being good to yourself and thank yourself for it.

Journal prompt to get you thinking and feeling, and getting more in touch with your truth. You can also choose to do your own. I've added 55 extra journal prompts in case you either don't like the one on any particular day or if you'd like to continue past the 40 days without repeating the ones already used. Remember to write in present tense.

Prep:

What is your top desire to create in the next 40 days?

Why?

What are you willing to do to get it?

Write a letter to The Universe for help in attracting what you desire.

Example:

Dear Universe,

I'm coming to you to get some help and guidance for what I wish to attract in the next 40 days. I'm open to however it will come to me. I know that it's already out there and available and there is no lack of anything.

I may not know exactly how it will happen, but I trust that I can create whatever I desire, with your help. I will look and listen for inspiration to come to me and take action on what is sent. I know that The Universe is for me and conspires for my benefit.

Your turn:

Write a letter thanking The Universe for that you've already received before you receive it.

Example:

Dear Universe,

Thank you for sending me exactly what I need and what I desire in my life at the perfect time. It feels so wonderful to have _____ now. How it came to me is miraculous and my belief and trust is further fortified through this journey.

I happily contributed to creating this in my life by _____.

Knowing that I can have whatever I desire makes me feel full, happy and abundant. I know that you have so much more abundance in store for me in the future.

Lesson 1: Law of Attraction – A Crash Course

“The Law of Attraction is this: You don’t attract what you want. You attract what you are.” - Dr. Wayne Dyer

The Law of Attraction is about like attracting like. The great thing about it is that, just like any other universal law, it works all the time, whether or not you’re aware of it. The other great thing is that when you learn to use the Law of Attraction, no one can take that skill away from you. Yes, it’s a skill and you can learn to get better at it.

Getting better at the law of attraction is about practice. I remember when I was a competitive figure skater. I practiced and practiced, I thought about it all the time because I loved and enjoyed it. I wanted to improve and get to the next level of jumps: ½ turns, singles, doubles, triples (ok, I didn’t quite get there). I didn’t start with triple jumps while gripping the side wall though.

With anything, you have to start at the level you’re at and then improve as you master the level. There’s no test here, like the levels in ice skating, but you’ll see as you get better and better how you can expand your skills with the Law of Attraction.

We all have old stories, old habits, knee jerk reactions that have to be reprogrammed. You’re not alone, but it means making a true effort to think feel and act positively instead. The Law of Attraction is not something you can do haphazardly or mildly half-way and expect to work for you.

The first thing with the Law of Attraction is that you have to have a clear vision of what you want because you can’t attract what you’re confused about. Your energy and frequency (vibration) really matter here because your brain sends out electromagnetic waves based on how you feel. THIS is the thing that attracts – you get back things at the same frequency you’re sending out.

It’s important to have your thoughts, emotions, visualization and actions be at that high vibrational frequency for you to attract those great things into your life. Great thing is that you control each of those things. You have the power to decide and become the creator of your life.

There are 6 steps to the Law of Attraction:

1. Change your Negatives into Positives – learn to nip things in the bud and turn your negative thoughts and emotions into positives. Know that this is part of life and know that you can choose to turn it around immediately or let it simmer and grow.

2. Know What You Don't Want – this is often a missed step as it seems negative. The exercise is mainly to get clear on your vision. When you visualize your dream life and desires, are there parts of it that you don't want? Again, you get to choose what's there, so if part of it doesn't work for your vision, get rid of it. Then because we want to focus on the positives, forget about what you don't want.

3. Know What You Do Want – you need to be very clear about your vision. You are a magnet for the visions in your head, so make them very specific, with as much detail as possible. Attach emotions to it and feel them deeply. What will this vision bring you? Happiness, enjoyment, freedom, love. Make sure you know the specific feeling outcome of your vision as well.

4. Ask – every day, you must ask for what you want, fully believing with all your heart that it will come to you. You must ask directly to The Universe and God. Remember there is an infinite supply of abundance in the world and not one bit of lack. Align your emotions with what you want to attract.

5. Allow It to Come to You – it may seem odd that anyone wouldn't allow abundance to come into their life, but it goes back to if we think we're worthy, deserving, or if it's truly available for us. Don't make yourself out to be special in that way. The Universe is for everyone but there's a difference in saying you're allowing something into your life and truly being open to receive it in thinking and feeling. Check in without yourself on this one because you can easily block great things from getting to you if you're not in alignment here.

6. Receive It (and be thankful for it) – once you have received your desire and vision, enjoy it, be thankful for it and constantly remind yourself of how grateful you are for it. Gratefulness is a high vibration. Celebrate and cheer for yourself. Anchor in the feeling so you can get to that feeling again.

Remember too that there's the Law of Gestation and you do not get to decide exactly at what point The Universe delivers. There will be times that you feel defeated, like it's not working. DO NOT ACCEPT THAT. It's your job to keep on the right path, keep your vibration high, visualize, feel and BE who you're meant to be in order to do what you need to and then consequently have what you desire.

Lesson 2: The Universe's Part

"Just because you're not to mess with the "hows," doesn't mean you're not to get busy doing all you can with what you have from where you are." - Mike Dooley, Tut.com

If you're a recovering control freak like me, it's hard to think of not being in control, but the plain fact of the matter is that we can never be in control of everything in our lives. However, what we do have is power to influence our world and create the abundance that we want. We need to be deliberate in our creation and intentional in our visions.

One of my all time favorite books is Mike Dooley's Leveraging the Universe. I've read it over and over and recorded my reading of it to listen over and over as well. What he says right off the bat is that we need to understand our power because that's the number one reason people fail in attracting what they want and being a deliberate creator. We have doubts about if we truly can attract what is in our vision and that doubt ruins our magnetism.

One of the biggest lessons I got from the book was that we co-create with The Universe. God is always on our side. We are supposed to do our part and The Universe supports us and does His part as well. We are limited in what we know we can do – those things should come from a place of inspired action (not crazy busy work) and be aligned with our purpose. Our actions should feel GOOD.

Then it's our part to trust that The Universe will do His part and give us chance meetings, "lucky" accidents, and magic that we can't even think of. We take our inspired action and delegate the other stuff to The Universe.

Remember that because you took the leap of faith to take those inspired steps, The Universe's action kicks in and you will be provided for. It's just how it works. But when you don't take a step at all, you stop it from getting to you. And when you start, doubt and stop, or slow down, you lose momentum.

Note: This doesn't mean that you don't tweak on the way if you learn something new or change your vision, it just means that you continue with faith and momentum, deliberately each day, to create what you desire. Believe it.

My course, Deliberate Creator goes into much more detail about how to get The Universe on your side. Find out more here: bit.ly/deliberatecreator

Lesson 3: Learning to Feel More Deeply

“Positive thoughts generate positive feelings and attract positive life experiences.” – anon

It's all about the feeling. Feelings create that high vibration that you want in your life. It's the attraction you need as a deliberate creator of your life.

I was raised to think that feeling was unsafe. Feeling too much potentially meant having to feel disappointment, hurt, abandonment or lack of love. I didn't want to feel those things so I created a nice, cozy shield. Problem is when you create that kind of a shield, you also can't feel the opposite positives like elation, joy, happiness and real love.

When I started to use the Law of Attraction, I blocked much of my success because I didn't want to feel still. I also thought maybe I wasn't allowed to have it. It was dangerous. While logically in my head, I knew that my past was not my truth and I didn't need to feel unsafe anymore, training myself to be okay with my feelings was a big deal.

And it started with celebrating my successes. This is something that many of us are trained not to do: don't brag, don't call attention to yourself, don't make others feel bad, you're not all that..... Sound familiar?

Well guess what? Celebrating doesn't have to be any of those things above and when you surround yourself with true friend and family that love you for YOU, they will cheer your successes as well and not make your successes wrong. Low key is not the way to be when it comes to being a deliberate creator.

“The reason you want every single thing that you want, is because you think that you will feel really good when you get there. But, if you don't feel good on your way to there, you can't get there.” - Abraham-Hicks, Jerry & Esther Hicks.

Start small and celebrate the small things. Even if it's something like, “I didn't lose my temper at the bad driver on the road today.” FIND things to celebrate so you can feel and know that it's safe. Celebrating feels so good that you'll want to feel it again. THIS is how you attract things into your life.

Lesson 4: Allow Yourself to Be You

“Being true to yourself never goes out of style.” - Legally Blonde

You want to live a big life, but you tell yourself you're not allowed. We so easily say that we don't deserve it, we're not worthy, we're not enough or we plain tell ourselves to be satisfied with what we have and quit being greedy.

What would happen if you allowed what you wanted to be right? We often make ourselves wrong for wanting something. How does that feel? Because if it feels bad, it's not in alignment with your truth. And guess what? You don't get to judge what you want to create in your life. Your desires were put there for a reason and it wasn't for them to be ignored.

We all know how we feel when we ignore what we want. Ever seen that “thing” at the store and agonize over whether you should buy it or not, only to leave it there and end up thinking about it for the next 2 weeks, until you go back and get it? It's like that. When you squelch your true desires, it nags at you until you go after it.

You have a calling to BE somebody. Who that somebody is, is already within you. How would your day be if you showed up every day as the person you have deep inside of yourself? What would you go after? How would you act?

Remember that the Law of Attraction is about being, then doing, then having. You must first be the person you were meant to be – I mean, really show up to your own life, and you'll be inspired to DO what you need to do to have exactly what's in your vision. Deliberate Creation. That's it right there.

Don't continue to live in a world of lack. You can have exactly what you desire. You don't have to fight anyone for your fair share. You don't have to worry that you aren't deserving. What you want is already being sent to you, it's available and on it's way.

BONUS: Tapping

“The subtle energies that circulate throughout the body have been largely ignored (until recently) by Western scientists. As a result, our use of them for emotional and spiritual healing has been sparse at best. With EFT, however, we consider these subtle energies to be the front-running cause of emotional upsets.” – Gary Craig

EFT (Emotional Freedom Technique) helps you to get rid of limiting beliefs, negative emotions and helps you change your mindset. It's a form of acupuncture, but without needles. Instead, you tap with your fingertips to clear certain meridian points while you're thinking and speaking about a specific problem you'd like to change.

Tapping has been used for psychological things as well as physical things, including weight loss. There are really no limits to its application.

When you use tapping through the energy meridians and voicing positive affirmation, it works to clear the "short-circuit" (the emotional block) from your body's bioenergy system. It restores your mind and body's balance.

Tapping is pretty simple to do, but one session may not clear your issues. During tapping, you will be doing 2 things: tapping and saying positive affirmations.

Note: it's best to do this without glasses on because it can mess with the electromagnetics.

Here are the steps:

1. Define the negative emotion. Give it a number 1-10 (10 being high severity)
2. Use a clarifying phrase. "Even though I have _____, I totally and completely love, forgive and accept myself anyway" or the 2nd half can be "I totally and completely accept myself" or "I totally and completely love and accept myself".
3. Repeat the clarifying phrase and tap the karate chop point.
4. Use a reminder phrase for all the other points
5. Tap through all the points repeating the phrase
6. Ask yourself what severity your issue is now. Assign it a number again.
7. Repeat until your severity is 2 or lower.
